

UNITED STATES PATENT APPLICATION

Yasuyuki Sekine

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A display for game has a display portion for movable indication of a plurality of symbols necessary for game in a certain direction, wherein a special kind of symbol among the plurality of symbols is indicated in such manner that two or more of identical symbols be appeared serially one after another in the direction to be moved on the display portion. The special kind of symbol is indicated in such manner that two or more of identical symbols be appeared serially one after another in the direction to be moved. When two or more identical symbols are appeared repeatedly in sequence, even if the symbols are moved in a high-speed, the player can distinguish the special symbol as it is. A player can easily see the special kind of symbol and can relatively easily carry out the stop operation with good timing.